INCLUSIVE LEADERSHIP
Collaboration, communication, courage, commitment, curiosity, and cultural intelligence - are among the most important traits needed for the inclusive leader's journey.
3 Benefits of Inclusive Leadership
When a leader includes everyone in conversations and critical decisions, employees are more apt to participate in team meetings and projects.
INCREASED EMPLOYEE RETENTION

If employees enjoy where they work, they will stay. It's that simple.
Employees tend to complain about the boss when they are not responding correctly to requests. An inclusive leader is on top of requests, keeping complaints at a minimum.
Leaders must be intentional about inclusion. Take actionable steps to prove to your team that you value inclusion.